Child Safety Restraints Required

Vermont law requires that children under one year be secured in a federally approved child safety seat. Children between one and five must be secured in a car seat if riding in the front seat and in a car seat or a seat belt if riding in the rear seat. Children aged five through twelve must be properly secured in a federally approved safety belt.

The Green Mountain State

Area: 9,609 Square Miles 1989 Estimated Population 567,000*

Free access to the 4-season charm of Vermont — its natural resources, its historic sites, varied recreation areas, and commanding scenery, statewide — is provided by a network of modern Interstate and State Highways offering unexcelled mountain and valley vistas. These are supplemented by over 11,170 miles of Town Highways, most of which are kept in good traveling condition throughout the year. It is advisable to make advance local inquiry regarding less-traveled roads, especially during the winter and early spring seasons. The approximately 13,860 miles of public highways in Vermont include:

320 miles of Interstate open to travel,
2,372 miles of State Highways (excluding Interstate), and 11,170 miles of Town Highways.
