I started to fix the alignment of this trail, but I now have a question about it.

Please see the map attached to this email. It shows the alignment of the trail as it was on the 2004 map. The problem is that it seems to go through someone's house. Would you be able to have someone sketch the correct alignment on the map, or provide other clarification about the trail's alignment? If so, it can be mailed to me at:

Hi Sara:

The Selectboard asked me to contact you concerning the new State Highway Maps. It appears the state changed the Bayley-Hazen Trail from the 2004 maps, where it is correct. The Selectboard has not changed that trail's status but again

Sara:

I am replying to your January 10th email. I asked the Selectboard last night and they said the Bayley-Hazen Trail does indeed go through the farmstead as it appears on the 2004 map. An old farm and an old trail.

Thanks,
Marsha Nelson

The trail in question is the one to the right of Ticklenaked Pond and as you can see, there is a difference between the current map and the 2004 map where it was drawn correctly.

Thanks for any help you can give us on this matter.

Sincerely,

Marsha Nelson
