

A photograph of a metal utility cabinet, possibly a signal or power cabinet, located outdoors. The cabinet is light-colored and has a door on the left side. On the front panel, there is a glowing orange light in a square housing at the top right. Below the light, there is a small square window with a diamond-shaped pattern. The main text on the cabinet is "851-193A" and "MP 18.25" in large, bold, black letters. At the bottom right, there is a small, rectangular, light-colored box with a blue padlock. The cabinet is situated next to a railway track with gravel ballast. The background consists of dense green vegetation and a building with a gravel roof.
