The image shows the underside of a bridge. Several dark, heavy steel beams run parallel across the top. Below them is a concrete ceiling with some staining. A thick, light-colored concrete wall runs horizontally across the middle. The lower portion of this wall is covered in a rough, grey stone or concrete masonry. On the left side of the wall, the word "AMEE" is painted in large, green, block letters. The ground in the foreground is uneven, with concrete slabs, dirt, and some debris. A date stamp is visible in the bottom right corner.
