

A photograph showing a metal expansion joint on a concrete road. The joint is a long, narrow metal strip with a series of circular holes along its length, positioned between two concrete slabs. The road surface is light gray concrete. In the background, there is a dark asphalt road and some greenery. A date stamp '09/09/2020' is visible in the bottom right corner.

09/09/2020