

A photograph of a concrete wall. A horizontal metal beam, possibly a rebar or support, runs across the middle of the frame. Above the beam, the wall is a light blue-grey color with some rust spots. Below the beam, the wall is a darker, mottled grey-green. A bright, circular light source is visible on the left side of the lower half of the image. The date '09/02/2020' is printed in orange at the bottom right.
