

A photograph of a road surface. The road is composed of two materials: a lighter-colored concrete on the left and a darker asphalt on the right. A vertical crack runs down the center where the two materials meet. To the right of the crack, there are several horizontal tire marks on the asphalt. In the background, there is a concrete curb and some green vegetation. The date "09/14/2020" is printed in orange text at the bottom center of the image.
