A photograph showing a close-up view of a weathered concrete wall. The wall has a textured, grey surface with some discoloration and small dark spots. To the left of the wall, there is a dense growth of green leaves, likely from a vine or climbing plant. The leaves are bright green and have a serrated edge. The background is a plain, light-colored sky. In the bottom right corner of the image, there is a date stamp in orange text that reads "10/01/2020".

A photograph showing a close-up of a concrete structure. A green-painted metal beam is visible, resting on a concrete surface. A rusted metal rod or pipe is also present, extending horizontally across the frame. The concrete appears aged and somewhat weathered. The date "10/01/2020" is printed in orange text at the bottom center of the image.
