

A photograph showing a concrete drainage structure, possibly a culvert or storm drain, with a dark opening. The structure is surrounded by overgrown vegetation, including tall grasses and fallen leaves in shades of brown, yellow, and red, suggesting an autumn setting. A thin, bare branch hangs down from the top left. A date stamp is visible in the bottom right corner.

10/01/2020