

A close-up photograph of a rough, grey, textured surface, possibly concrete or stone. The surface is covered in numerous small pits, scratches, and fibers. Faint, irregular blue markings, resembling spray paint or chalk, are scattered across the surface, forming abstract shapes and lines. The lighting is even, highlighting the granular texture of the material.