

A photograph of a construction site. On the left is a dark, textured concrete wall. To the right is a structure made of green-painted metal beams and planks. The structure consists of horizontal beams supported by vertical posts. The beams are connected by butt joints. A yellow text overlay reads "Note butt joint every other plank."

Note butt joint every other plank.

