Free access to the 4-season charm of Vermont—its natural resources, its historic sites, varied recreation areas, and commanding scenery, statewide—is provided by a network of modern Interstate and State Highways offering unexcelled mountain and valley vistas. These are supplemented by over 11,500 miles of State Aid and Town Highways, most of which are kept in good traveling condition throughout the year. It is advisable to make advance local inquiry regarding less-traveled roads, especially during the winter and early spring seasons. The approximately 14,000 miles of public highways in Vermont include:
230 miles of Interstate open to travel.
91 miles of Interstate in design or under construction.
2,260 miles of State Highways (excluding Interstate), and
11,650 miles of State Aid and Town Highways.

HISTORIC PLACES*

Bennington

The Bennington Battle Monument, Vt. 9, in village. Built in 1891 in commemoration of the attack launched from there by General John Stark of the American Colonial Army against troops of General Burgoyne during the Revolutionary War. The battle, which took place on August 16, 1777, was fought south of Bennington in what is now New York State. The monument, a 306 ft. stone monolith, is open to the public daily, March 20–Dec. 1. Admission. State owned.

Burlington

General Ethan Allen Burial Place, Colchester Avenue. The mortal remains of Vermont's noted statesman, philosopher, writer, and soldier lie in this cemetery beneath the marble statue. Born 1738 — Died 1789. Battery Park, in city. Scene of abortive British naval attack on American fortifications during War of 1812. Attack took place August 3, 1813.

East Hubbardton

The Hubbardton Battlefield and Museum, 7 miles off U.S. 4. New Visitors Reception Center and Museum building under construction. Exhibits and audio-visual programs will depict the only battle fought on Vermont soil during the American Revolution, July 7, 1777. Open late May-mid Oct. State owned.

Fairfield

President Chester A. Arthur Birthplace, off Vt. 36 or 108. The house, a reproduction of the original, was dedicated in 1954 by the Vermont Board of Historic Sites. A 35-acre park and panoramic views of the surrounding countryside make it one of the most scenic spots in this part of Vermont. Open June to September inclusive. State owned. Admission.

Grand Isle

The Hyde Log Cabin, U.S. 2. Built in 1783, this structure is considered the oldest log cabin in the U.S. still standing in its original condition. Open July 4–Labor Day, daily, 10:30–5. Donations. State owned.

Isle La Motte

Shrine of Ste. Anne, on West Shore Rd. Roman Catholic shrine now occupies site of Vermont's first white settlement, Fort Ste. Anne, built in 1666. Jesuit priests erected first chapel and celebrated first Mass here.

Killington

In 1763 on the summit of Mt. Killington, Rev. Samuel Peters claimed he christened the Wilderness with the name "Verd-mont." Most historians give credit to Dr. Thomas Young's letter "to the inhabitants of Vermont," sent to Windsor in 1777.

Montpelier

State House, on State Street. Present structure dedicated in 1859. It is noted for its beautiful Doric exterior, massive granite columns and Corinthian interior. The 14 carat gold leaf dome with the statue of "Ceres", Greek goddess of agriculture atop, can be seen by visitors entering the Capital from all directions. Open year 'round: July 1–Labor Day, seven days a week; after Labor Day–June 30, Mon.–Fri. State owned.

Plymouth Notch

President Coolidge Homestead. It was here that Vice-President Calvin Coolidge was administered the oath of office of President of the United States by his father — a Vermont Notary Public — in the early hours of the morning of Aug. 3, 1923. Open late May to mid-October, weekdays and Sundays. Admission. Homestead is a registered National Historic Landmark. State owned.

Royalton

Joseph Smith Monument, Vt. 14, east of village. Monument marks the birthplace of the great Mormon prophet and leader, born December 23, 1805. The polished granite shaft, standing 38½ feet tall, is considered the world's largest.

Springfield

The Eureka Schoolhouse, located on U. S. Route 11, between Springfield and Exit 7 of Interstate 91. Built in 1785, it is the oldest schoolhouse in Vermont and was in continuous use from its construction to 1900. Restored in 1968, it is open to the public from late May to mid-October. State owned.

Strafford

Justin Smith Morrill Homestead, south of common in village. Historic home of U.S. Senator Morrill, father of Acts establishing Land Grant Colleges. House constructed 1848–51. Registered National Historic Landmark. Open June 15–September 15, daily except Mon., 1-4 p.m. State owned.

Townshend

The Scott Covered Bridge over the West River, Vt. 30. The longest single span bridge of its type in the state. Built in 1870. Length, 165.7 ft. State owned.

Whitingham

Brigham Young Birthplace, Vt. 8, in village. Granite monument, 14 ft. high, marks birthplace of famous Mormon leader, June 1, 1801. Led Mormons from Illinois to Utah, founded Salt Lake City, 1847.

Windsor

Old Constitution House, U.S. 5, in the town. "The Birthplace of Vermont." In this former tavern, on July 8, 1777, representatives of the New Hampshire Grants adopted the first Constitution of the "Free and Independent Republic of Vermont." Open daily, June to mid-October. Donations. State owned.

Wolcott

The Wolcott Covered Railroad Bridge, located on U. S. Route 15, approximately two miles east of Wolcott Village. This bridge is the last railroad covered bridge still in regular use in Vermont and one of a very few left in the United States.

Atop the Green Mountains, VDA

East Poultney, Clyde Smith

For much of her 159 mile length, Vermont nestles serenely between the Connecticut River to the East and Lake Champlain to the West. But her soft wooded hills and rolling farmlands can be deceiving, for Vermont has strength.

And nowhere is that strength better exemplified than in the Green Mountain Range. Forming a virtually unbroken mountainous spine from Canada in the North to the Massachusetts border, the Green Mountains have become a winter and summer playground for travelers and native Vermonters alike. It is truly the backbone of Vermont.

Other lesser mountain ridges and monadnocks cover the length and breadth of America's 48th most populous state. Indeed, one quickly realizes that Vermont's charm and enduring magnetism is the happy result of her largely unsettled landscape, like a green jewel in the Atlantic Seaboard's crowded megalopolis.

In recent years, Vermonters have become aware of the importance of her natural beauty; not only as a major asset to the tourist industry, but as the supportive foundation to "the good life". Vermont is the first state to enact specific regulations controlling off-premise roadside advertising and it leads the country in forward-thinking environmental protection legislation.

There is much to be protected.

Nowhere in the world does Mother Nature's changing of the seasons arrive with more enthusiasm than in Vermont. Four times each year, the whirl of weather and new activities turns the minds and hearts of young and old.

There are museums here, and art galleries, theaters, antique shops, movies and even a state symphony orchestra. But Vermont is really an outdoor state. Outdoors for things to see — outdoors for things to do.

Glen Ellen, Tony Egan

In spring, the landscape is all pale fuchsia and lavendar buds; there's fishing and late spring skiing and early planting and robins — the air smells clean and good. It's maple sap, syrup, sugar time.

Summer is unbelievably green — cool nights, warm days, hiking, camping, picnicking, riding, sailing, soaring, sight-seeing and luxurious swimming pools and boyhood valley-stream rock ledge swimming holes.

The fall foliage, a riot of colors — background for a photographer's paradise. Hunting season, church bazaars, harvest suppers and pick-your-own apples. Cider fresh from the press.

Snow comes early but the skiers, snowshoers, snowmobilers, ski tourers, sledders and tobogganers are happy. Moonlight in Vermont is best on a new-fallen blanket of white.

Each season is so separate and distinct in Vermont, it's almost like being in four different countries. All are beautiful, all have much to offer and all share common boundaries, but to step into a new season opens up a new world of customs, attitudes and opportunities.

No wonder Vermont is known throughout the world. No wonder Vermont is everyone's second home.

STATE PARKS AND FORESTS

Vermont has 34 State Forests and 38 State Parks, totaling 118,922 acres. Recreational facilities in both forests and parks are administered by the Division of Parks. The Division operates 37 campgrounds containing approximately 2,100 individual campsites, and 13 major state beaches with public bathhouses. Approximately 4,000 acres in the State Forests are devoted primarily to skiing and are leased to private operators. Some of these ski areas, located at least in part on state forest land, are Stowe, Killington, Burke and Okemo. All forests and parks, except game refuges, and where close to human concentrations, are open to hunting after October 15th. Many of the forests and parks have hiking and snowmobile trails.

CAMPING

All campgrounds have a resident manager, drinking water and flush toilets. An individual campsite includes a level tent space, fireplace and table. All sites will accommodate a tent and most all sites will accommodate a travel trailer, but there are no special hookups for utilities in any of the campgrounds. However, most campgrounds have a sanitary station for use by self-contained camper vehicles. Some of the campgrounds have Green Mountain lean-tos, which are roofed shelters closed on three sides and fully open on the fourth. They have a 10' x 13' wooden floor about 15 inches above the ground and will accommodate up to five persons. For information regarding camping in Vermont State Parks and Forests, write: Agency of Environmental Conservation, Department of Forests and Parks, Division of Parks, Montpelier, Vermont 05602, or the individual areas listed below from May 1 to October 15.

GENERAL INFORMATION

All summer areas open Friday preceding Memorial Day. Swimming areas close after Labor Day. Other areas close after Columbus Day. Day use areas are open 10:00 A.M. to 9:00 P.M. After Labor Day, the areas close at 8:00 P.M.

Fires can be built only in fireplaces or designated areas. Fuelwood is furnished in campgrounds.

Trees, plants and flowers cannot be cut, lifted or picked.

All dogs must have rabies vaccination, and owners will be requested to show evidence of valid vaccination. All pets to be kept on leash. All pets prohibited in swimming areas.

Vermont also has 241,000 acres of Green Mountain National Forest land administered by the U.S. Forest Service. For further information, write: Forest Supervisor, Green Mountain National Forest, 151 West Street, Rutland, Vermont 05701.

Many of Vermont's communities have very active historical societies and in some cases, a museum is maintained to exhibit local memorabilia. The majority of these small museums are only open to the public on a limited basis during the spring, summer and fall. For those interested in Vermont's early history, the following museums should prove interesting. Inquire locally for further information.

ART GALLERIES and SUMMER THEATRES IN VERMONT

Sculpture on the Highways. As a result of two international sculpture symposiums held in the Green Mountain State, one in 1968 — the other in 1971, eighteen marble and concrete sculptures have been placed on Vermont's Interstate Highway system. Strategically located in rest areas, the monumental constructions are found from the Massachusetts to the Canadian borders on I-91 and I-89.

HIGHWAY DIRECTIONAL SIGN SYMBOLS

Vermont's Travel Information Council, a citizen policy-making board in State government, is removing all off-premise outdoor advertising signs from Vermont's highways. This effort to maintain the natural beauty of Vermont is most complete in the southeast corner of the State. In this area, businesses have erected small individual directional signs as well as plaques on unmanned community "travel information" plazas.

Locations of many of these businesses may be found by locating their assigned numbers on regional maps provided in the large State guidebook which will be available during 1972 at staffed information booths operated by the State and local chambers of commerce. Some of the more common sign symbols appear below:

Food — Recreation — Gasoline — Lodging — Goods & Services

VERMONT LIFE MAGAZINE

Vermont Life is published quarterly, with the seasons, by the State of Vermont. Each issue contains 64 pages of good reading with factual and informational articles on the unique character and charm of life in Vermont, past and present. It is illustrated with numerous exceptional photographs, many being in full color, showing Vermont's beauty in each changing season. For a one year subscription, send $3.50 (40¢ extra for foreign delivery) to: Vermont Life Magazine, Dept VM, Montpelier, Vermont 05602.
